(To your right) Modeling agencies should be on the look out because Keondra seems like she knows all the poses! Keondra's wardrobe is an inspiration for her nail designs.

NAILS

(Above) Not only does Keondra love flaunting her nail designs, but she also is very fashionable with every little accessory she owns. Bracelets and rings give her nails the finishing look.

Getting familiar with the texture of this rock, Keondra has a specific nail lacquer that she enjoys painting her nails with.

Keondra Lynam (11) is a unique individual. She expresses who she is by showing off her nails, it's her specialty. "I want to become a Cosmetologist one day," Keondra told me. Not only is she great at doing nails, but she loves doing her hair and make-up also.

*"Nail Designing
is underestimated
as an art."*

With every stroke of nail polish, Keondra finds a way to make symmetrical patterns in to a work of art. Most artists need an oversized canvas to display their imagination, others just need a small surface to show their ability with amazing detail.

TATTED UP!

Its easy to see this isn't your ordinary teacher, Mr. Shawiak has 15 tattoos! He happens to be a huge fan of Star Wars so it is to no surprise that his two favorite tattoos happen to be Lego Darth Vader and Boba Fett. Of course with many good tattoos comes "the flaw". When asked if he had any messed up tattoos he said there was one, his arm band. He said by the time he noticed and tried to go back to get it fixed the tattoo parlor had been abandoned. Moral of the story "You get what you paid for."

OH MY!

Teacher of the year 2011-2012

Photograph of Marcus Shawiak

You may know Mr. Shawiak if you have ever gotten AWAS, or if you have been lucky enough to have him teach you about World History or American History. He chose to become a history teacher because as a student he always had A's in history, and he feels that he was always good in history. He loves history, he loves learning and teaching about the past. He enjoys to enlighten his students with knowledge of Greece, Rome, and the mid-evil times. On his leisure time Mr. Shawiak enjoys spending time with his family(his expecting wife and 3 kids), he also told us that he is very close with all of his family. Not only is he an outstanding teacher but he can also play the acoustic guitar. Interesting enough his favorite color is green, yet he always wears black...go figure.

Rattler Trends

Whether it is sporty, casual, formal, or even punk, we all have our own style. Clothes gives not only kids, but everyone a way to express how they are feeling. Not only girls are the ones who have their own style. "My style is sporty and nice" senior Paul Macrice reveals when asked what his personal style is.

Every high school is full of different styles because every high school is full of different people. "My style is sexy, Mexican and pink," describes junior Carlos Ramirez. Senior Ryan Hilgenfeldt often describes himself through his clothes. "I like to wear classy clothes". The way people describe themselves through their style and choice of clothing can often summarize their personality.

Versatility is abundant, among students. Some go along with the norm such as a tee and a pair of pants, while others go above and beyond to impress all who lay eye on their outfit, "I like to shop anywhere where there is cute clothes", explains senior Taylor Hunt.

Popular brands among students can vary from Aeropostol, Hollister, and Abercrombie to clothes with their favorite bands, or favorite graphics. There is no person that can judge another's style. Many students like to wear casual and laid back clothes and being that the school day and year are so long that students want to be comfortable. "I don't have a specific style. I'm not picky when it comes to clothes. I just want to wear what is cute." Brittany Burke (12) explains while considering her favorite things to wear. Clothes are always changing with time. Each person's style will change right along with time though, giving us the perfect way to express ourselves.

Right: Anna Fubelli (12) pairs a cute skirt with her flowy sweater to give her style a cute flare.

"Freshman year I didn't even match"

-Brittany Flagg(12)

"My style depends on how I feel."

-Sarah Landreth (12)

Below: Andrew Lusk (12) shows his laid back personality through his comfy style.

"Since I dye my hair almost every week, I usually try to match my hair with my outfit."

-Jessica Miller (12)

Right: Melanie Duque (9) expresses herself wearing converse, black skinny jeans, and a black and white shirt. She uses, bracelets, necklaces and a nose ring to accessorize. But her pink hair tops it all off giving a punk

"We're all different and think differently. We disagree but in the end we all come together to make an awesome yearbook," says Bailey Greene (9) as seen above.

What's Gonna Work?.....Team Work!

Image taken by: Mr. Krysalika

Together Bailey Greene(9), Gabriel Feliciano(11), Bailey Nelson(10), and William Castillo(10) work diligently to sell ads, do projects, and produce spreads in the yearbook. Working as a group is a challenge for them because they all have different opinions and perspectives. They often argue and disagree, but eventually they come to an agreement. "If one of us goes down, we all go down", says William. Some groups/teams finish their work individually but they always work as a team which means they do things as a team, as a unified effort. Yearbook is all about having different opinions, a lot of arguing and debating goes on, and putting different ideas together to make a great product. Hand in hand, they work together to be the best they can be.

Bailey Nelson(10) as seen above says, "Sometimes it's complicated but when we put our heads together and cooperate, everything turns out awesome".

Gabriel Feliciano (11) as seen below says, "With a great team comes great responsibilities and with our team were the best at what
